Feedback is much more effective when:

- You ask for it yourself
- It is linked to learning intent or goals
- When performance goals are set first
- It comes from peers
- Just in time—just for me
- It is an active constructive response
- It is descriptive not evaluative
- It is specific not general

Effective leaders have a balance of support and challenge conversations.